COUNCIL TOLD OF PROPOSED WORK IN 1924
$55,000 Improvement to System Planned by Dixon Home Co.

Washington, Nov. 7.—The Washington government, still hopeful American helplessness in their effort to solve the reparations tangle may be found available by the allied powers, sought a more definite understanding today of the restrictions which France desires to place on the proposed expert inquiry. For this purpose, the French foreign office has dispatched to Ambassador Jusserand an amplified statement of the French position.

RIVER HEAD, N. Y.—The Ku Klux Klan figured in the elections in various parts of Suffolk County and, with one exception, candidates backed by the Klan won.

Washington, Nov. 7.—President Harding called for the resignation of Charles R. Forbes as director of the Veterans' Bureau as a result of the Perryville, Md., surplus supply sale transaction. Brig. Gen. C. E. Sawyer, personal friend and physician to the late President, testified today before the senate committee.

Four Young Folks in Narrow Escape from Death in Mishap.
A Ford roadster belonging to Lawrence Kelly, Jr., of this city was completely demolished and four young people experienced narrow escapes from death Sunday night about 9:15, when the machine, being driven at a high rate of speed struck a cement abutment and turned over three times. There were four couples in the party who were going to a camp near Grand Detour and were driving south on the Daysville road.

Madison, Wis., Nov. 7.—Whether B. C. Gerber, right tackle on the University of Wisconsin football team, is permitted to continue in the Badger lineup following charges of professionalism, probably will be determined today by the university athletic council.

Democracy were elected yesterday in all three states where there were gubernatorial elections—Kentucky, Maryland and Mississippi.

Manager Louis Pitcher of the Dixon Home Telephone company appeared before the city council at its regular weekly session last evening and made known the fact that the company contemplated improvement in equipment in this city amounting to approximately $55,000, and the council unanimously granted permission to the company permission to rebuild telephone lines upon certain streets and alleys in the city.

PROSPECTS BRIGHTER
Paris, Nov. 7.—(By the Associated Press.)—The reparations commission has decided to comply immediately with the German request for a hearing on the reparations question as proposed in the Berlin government's note of October 24. If the several governments, including the United States, are unable to agree regarding the setting up of the advisory investigating committee.

WASHINGTON—President and Mrs. Coolidge will continue the custom of holding a New Year's reception to the general public, which was revived by President and Mrs. Harding after a lapse of several years.

Washington, Nov. 7.—President Harding called for the resignation of Charles R. Forbes as director of the Veterans' Bureau today disclosed that the resignation of Charles R. Forbes, former Director of the Bureau, was requested by the late President Warren G. Harding. The late President, according to the evidence of Brig. Gen. C. E. Sawyer, personal friend and physician to Harding, asked Forbes to resign.

Testimony before the U. S. Senate committee which is investigating alleged graft and irregularities in the U. S. Veterans' Bureau today disclosed that the resignation of Charles R. Forbes, former Director of the Bureau, was requested by the late President Warren G. Harding. The late President, according to the evidence of Brig. Gen. C. E. Sawyer, personal friend and physician to Harding, asked Forbes to resign.

James McCrystal, driver of the car, which he had borrowed from Lawrence Kelly, was badly cut about the face, several stitches being taken in his chin and he also sustained a dislocation of his knee cap. George Tuttle, the fourth member of the party was cut about the face with broken glass and sustained slight bruises, but was the least injured of any of the quartette. Another car containing two couples which was following, brought the injured parties to Dixon, and the wrecked car was hauled to a local garage.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—The attempt to disqualify E. C. Gerber, right tackle on the University of Wisconsin football team, on a charge of professionalism has injected a new worry into the Badger camp just before its important game with Illinois at Urbana Saturday. Without its big tackle, the Wisconsin eleven would be handicapped in its effort to maintain its position in the Western Conference.

Governor Ritchie, re-elected in Maryland over Alexander Armstrong, republican, had an increased majority over his first election. B. L. Whitfield, democrat, had no opposition in Mississippi.

At the request of Mayor Frank D. Palmer, Manager Pitcher explained briefly the extensive program of improvement as outlined by the company to be installed next season. The majority of the improvement will be spread over the south side of the river in this instance although some work that was not completed on the north side during the season just closed will be completed as soon as possible. It is the intention of the company to give Dixon the best telephone service in this part of the country and I might add in any city of the country. The improvement outlined in our program for next year is far beyond the season just closed and we will continue to put our wires underground until the system is 100 percent. Approximately ten miles of our lines will go underground. While in the petition we have asked to place our lines underground in the city, I might add that we will carry our lines running west on the Rock Island road, underground from the west city limits to the school house.

THE IMPROVED SITUATION was said to be due to the tendency of the British government to accept in attenuated form Premier Poincare's reservation restricting the estimate to Germany's capacity to pay to the "present."

BERLIN—Sporadic plundering of food shops was again in progress here. Flaring signs "Christian Shop" have been posted on many smaller places. The raids have been directed especially against Jewish shops with the result that many hundreds of shops had been wrecked and pillaged and more than 100 persons injured.

NEW YORK—Imported liquors and cordials valued at $50,000 were seized by agents aboard the coast guard cutter Lexington from the tug Capitol, off College Point after the tug's crew had run a gauntlet of pistol fire and escaped ashore.

Chicago, Nov. 7.—An order of Principal W. M. Himel of the Maine Township high school, suspending three boys supposedly because of charges that they had "laid down" in a football game, was rescinded by the township board last night. The board previously had upheld the principal but later invited the boys to return.

Today's Market Report

Corn Helped Wheat Toward Close Today

By Associated Press Leased Wire.
Chicago, Nov. 7. — Unexpected strength in wheat at Liverpool, together with a big bulge in the cotton at New York, had a bullish influence on wheat here today. Upturns in corn tended also to revive bullish sentiment regarding wheat. The opening which ranged from 1/4 to 1/2 higher with Dec. 1.06 1/4 and May 1.11 1/4 followed by something of a reaction.

Increased selling which found support lacking brought about a material setback in wheat about the middle of the session. The wheat market with the help of corn was rallying again though near the finish. Wheat closed unsettled at 1/4 net lower to 1/2 advance. Dec. 1.05 1/4 and May 1.11 1/4.

Scarcities of corn arrivals here gave an upward swing to corn. After opening 1/4 to 1/2 higher, Dec. 75 1/4 and the market continued to climb.

Corn started a shade higher, Dec. 42 and later showed additional gains. Provisions were firmer. The government report tomorrow was expected to suggest a corn crop and carry over under the average of the last five years. Corn closed strong 1 1/2 to 2 1/2 net higher, Dec. 77 1/4.

AIRPLANE ROSE NEARLY MILE IN MINUTE TUESDAY

Lt. A. J. Williams Annexes Another Record of World.

By Associated Press Leased Wire.
Mitchell Field, N. Y., Nov. 7. — In one minute an airplane went nearly one mile high yesterday.

More conspicuous, perhaps, with the passage of lightning than anything else mortals have seen, the airplane flashed from Mitchell Field. In the pilot's seat was Lieutenant A. J. Williams, known as "Al" when he pitched for the New York Nationals, holder of the world's speed record which he established last week at 266.8 miles an hour.

His feat was the culmination of a day of thrills witnessed by 20,000 people undeterred by the rain.

Dusk had fallen when Lieutenants Williams and H. J. Brown took off. The previous ascending speed record was 2,000 feet in one minute made by Roland Rohlf.

The crowd went all aghast when the plane was tripped and two figures dropped out hanging to parachutes which failed to open soon enough. The figures landed with terrific impact.

A few minutes later it was realized that the parachute episode was premature. The figures were dummies.

charged several clauses in the charge of professionalism against Gerber are erroneous and it is probable that when the Badgers line up against Illinois at Urbana Saturday, Gerber will be playing.

Ed Williams again led the regulars against the all-American at quarterback in the scrimmages. Gerber was out in uniform but did not scrimmage as he is still nursing his knee nose. His position was filled by Benton. Should Gerber be declared ineligible Benton will probably play right tackle.

ILLINOIS NOT ACCUSED
Chicago, Nov. 7. — (By the Associated Press) — Information that resulted in the charges of professionalism against B. C. Gerber, star tackle on the University of Wisconsin, did not come from the athletic authorities at the University of Illinois, John L. Griffith, commissioner of athletics, of the "Big Ten" announced today.

It is a fact that a great many people write me in regard to the alleged ineligibility of a player. Commissioner Griffith said I simply send the information on to the director of the university involved. In many cases the information does not mean a protest.

Whatever action is taken in Gerber's case will be taken by the faculty committee at Wisconsin. The charge of professionalism is based on the fact that Gerber taught a boys' swimming class in a Y. M. C. A.

The conference rules provide that no student shall participate in any intercollegiate contest who has ever used his knowledge of athletics or his athletic ability or gymnastic skill for gain. However, the rule provides that students may engage in summer play-ground work, serve as life guards and other similar work where the requirements do not call for technical physical training.

HIGH ELEVEN TO BELVIDERE FOR GAME SATURDAY

Locals to Encounter Stiff Opposition in Coming Game.

Coaches Bowers and Weiss will take the Dixon high school football team to Belvidere Saturday where they will meet the high school team of that city. This is the first time that Dixon has met Belvidere in many seasons and a hard game is in prospect, as that city boasts of having one of the strongest teams in northern Illinois. Dixon expects to meet the best defensive team they have encountered this season. Belvidere recently defeated the fast DeKalb high school team by a score of 6 to 0. The coaches are working the team hard for Saturday's contest and every man is doing his best to be in shape for the game. Rynearson reported to Captain Rosecrans this week that the Belvidere team is a hard bunch to play. For several weeks, and will probably occupy the quarterback position Saturday. Layhey will doubtless be seen at full back, the remainder of the team. George O'Malley and George Thompson, sophomores, have joined the team this week and will probably be given an opportunity in Saturday's game. The team is having action pictures taken this week for the high school annual.

Rioting in Warsaw Fatal to Twenty-two

Warsaw, Nov. 7. — (By the Associated Press) — Twenty-two persons have been killed and three score wounded in riots and bombings growing out of the strike of the railway workers. The disorders occurred despite the agreement of the socialists to call off the strike in return for the government's promise to withdraw the military from the railroads.

The most serious riot was at Cracow where twenty persons were killed. Most of the dead were soldiers. Cracow has been the scene of communist propaganda directed, according to the government, by outside leaders.

A bomb exploded in Warsaw yesterday in the headquarters of the socialists, killing two persons.

A socialist leader was killed in Bydgoslaw, Galicia.

Troops are patrolling the cities and no other outbreaks are reported.

By Associated Press Leased Wire.

His statement said Philadelphia club members as well as officials were cooperating with prohibition officers to secure observance of the law.

SALE OF SUPPLIES NEEDED BY BUREAU CAUSED HIS ACTION

were shipped out, and as a result of this insubordination, Colonel Forbes was asked to resign."

Dr. Sawyer told how President Harding had come to his office to see samples of goods which were sold.

"He looked at the samples much more critically than I have in presenting these samples to you," the witness said.

That the late President personally put an end to the sale of materials was disclosed at yesterday's hearing. The late executive first intervened in the transaction on Nov. 24, 1922, nine days after the bureau had entered into a contract for the sale of the materials valued at $2,000,000 to Thompson & Kelly, Inc., of Boston for approximately $600,000. Deliveries were resumed after a conference between the President and representatives of the veterans' bureau and the war department on Dec. 12.

Stopped Sale Jan. 24.

The second and final order by Mr. Harding stopping deliveries was issued on Jan. 24, 1923, and according to the testimony of Lieutenant Commander Charles E. O'Leary, then in charge of the supply division of the bureau, after a meeting at the White House between the executive and Charles R. Forbes, then director of the bureau. What transpired at that conference was not disclosed.

O'Leary's understanding was that Brig. Gen. Charles E. Sawyer, personal physician to President Harding, and Senator Calder (Rep., N. Y.) were among those who had made representations to Mr. Harding regarding the bureau's transaction.

Development of the story of this sale was pursued again Tuesday by the committee with only a single break. This came with the presentation by John F. O'Ryan, general counsel for the committee, of a letter describing "parties" said to have been indulged in by some officers and employees of the bureau at Chillicothe, O., where is located the largest rehabilitation school of the bureau.

The letter was written by E. A. Tripp, in charge of the supply division of the bureau, to W. C. Black, chief clerk of the bureau, who testified it was among papers stolen when his office was burglarized on the night of Nov. 25, 1922.

"Say, this is some town," said the letter. "You're missing a real old time. The hunting season is on. Rabbits for lunch and pheasants for dinner; wines, beers, and booze, and we haven't missed a one since. Last Wednesday I was soiled to the gills."

"To hell with the central office and work," the letter continued. "The fun is in the field."

"Let me know when Forbes is going to sell by sealed proposals. Then's when I get a Rolls Royce."

Washington, Nov. 6. — An amazing story of how millions of dollars worth of hospital stores, badly needed for the treatment of disabled soldiers, were removed from the War Reliance supply depot and sold for a small fraction of their value was related Monday before the senate committee investigating the veterans' bureau.

At the very time the bureau was selling these supplies it was buying the same kind of goods at the full market value. While it was shipping new bed sheets through one door of the depot to a Boston concern for approximately 16 cents each it was bringing in through another door more sheets of not so good a quality purchased from a New York company for $1.93 each, according to the testimony.

Committee Is Amazed

The detailed story of the transaction, told principally by N. B. Hendrix, chief storekeeper at Perryville, amazed the committee and at the conclusion of the session Gen. O'Ryan, chief counsel for the committee, burst forth:

"The whole transaction, is almost inconceivable. It is a perfect outrage."

Col. Forbes, former director of the bureau, under whose direction the deal was carried out, sat beside his counsel and listened attentively but without any display of feeling.

The decision to sell part of the Perryville stores was made Nov. 10, 1922. Within a week the contract for the sale had been let to the Thompson-Kelly Company of Boston and the goods were beginning to move out of the depot.

"Pretty fast work," Gen. O'Ryan commented.

Some idea of the magnitude of the deal was furnished by the statement that 150 freight car loads of sheets, towels, blankets, gauze and other materials were hauled away.

Lieutenant Commander Charles R. O'Leary, chief of the bureau of supply division during the transaction, insisted that the sheets were "reclaimed" and were unfit for veterans' hospitals. He also questioned the accuracy of statements that the bureau was buying sheets at the same time it was selling them.

Thereupon Gen. O'Ryan produced documents to show that while the sale was going on the bureau bought thousands of sheets and called Hendrix to the stand to testify that the sheets

Engagement of Miss Johnson Announced

Miss Pearl V. Johnson most delightfully entertained last evening with a dinner party at Miss Breed's, at which time she announced her engagement to Frank I. Card of Grand Rapids, Mich.

The table was artistically decorated in yellow and white. A basket of lily chrysanthemums and fern was the exquisite centerpiece, while dainty cards and favors, carried out the color scheme effectively.

The announcement was made immediately after the guests were seated. On each place card was a clever little verse stating where the "secret of the hour" might be found.

The four-course dinner was then enjoyed while Miss Johnson received the enthusiastic good wishes of her friends present.

The guests were then taken to Miss Johnson's home on West Third street where the remainder of the evening was spent in playing cards.

The guests at the party were the two sisters of Miss Johnson, Miss Charlotte Johnson and Mrs. Jay Gardner, Mrs. L. N. Wells, and the Misses Irene Struwer, Ada Lohr and Olive Hanes, while Mrs. Myron Hartshorn was an out-of-town guest.

Miss Johnson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Johnson of Third street and is a highly esteemed and attractive young woman.

Mr. Card is a National Bank examiner, with headquarters in Grand Rapids, Mich.

Hallowe'en Party By South Dixon Club

One of the most successful and enjoyable parties ever given by the South Dixon Community club was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Sander on the Peoria Road, last Wednesday evening, attended by the members and their families, numbering more than a hundred. There were no idle moments during the evening. When the guests arrived, they were met in the yard by witches, whoosts and goblins, large and small, and escorted into the house, which was but dimly lighted, making everything appear weird and gruesome.

The spirit of Hallowe'en was evident throughout the house and as the guests escorted one through the various rooms, they encountered witches, cats, etc., grinning at them from every nook and corner.

Later in the evening an excellent program was given, and the club had many talented members.

Mary Hallowe'en games and stunts furnished amusement during the evening, the witch photographer brought forth many fine poses and Mr. and Mrs. Newliwy and the baby surely did their part in seeing that every one was being entertained.

The spacious home was beautifully decorated in flowers, autumn foliage orange and black streamers, black cats, pumpkins, jack-o'-lanterns and other Hallowe'en emblems.

Much credit for the success of the party must be given to Mrs. Alfre Tourtellot, chairman of the program committee, and her several able assistants and to these members a vote of thanks was extended for the pleasant evening.

The club was in need of more members, so one of the members who is noted for her excellence in the culinary art baked and donated an Angel Food cake, this was disposed of by each man paying to enter a game and drawing a slip containing the name of his partner, the couple winning the game were given the cake. Mrs. Mathias Leivan and her son were the lucky couple. J. C. Wadsworth, Reuben Leivan, Alfre Tourtellot, Charles Beard and Harriet Tourtellot were some of the other lucky ones during the evening.

At the close of the evening sandwiches, coffee, pickles, pumpkin pie and doughnuts were served and at a late hour all departed for their homes having spent a most delightful evening and voting Mr. and Mrs. Snader ideal entertainers.

Telegraph Cartoon Base Zouave Play

Readers of The Telegraph who have enjoyed Stanley's wonderful cartoons depicting life in The Old Home Town, will have an opportunity of seeing the cartoonist's brain children in real life on December 6 and 7, when the Sterling Lady Zouaves will present the first musical comedy attempted by home talent in that city in recent years—Pickings From the Old Home Town.

The Zouaves, aided by an all-star home talent cast, have been working on the play for several weeks. Practically all of the characters made famous by Stanley will be shown, including Aunt Sarah Peabody, Otis Walker, Bob Bacon, the fat boy, Dad Keyes, Amos Swope, the gentleman with the tin ear, and his equal partner, Isiah Winkum, Newt, the horse breaker, Ed Wurgler, who delivers washings for his wife, and the end Dud Keyes working herself, Mayor Doolittle, the boy with the wheel, Priscilla Shodgrass, the beauty doctor, Birdie Green, the milliner, and her boon companion, the village dressmaker, Clarence Sargum, a Hootstown dude, Lilly Langtree Sweetone, the vaudeville actress stranded in the Old Home Town, and a large chorus of sweet young girls from Hootstown and around.

Unknown to his fellow townsmen, Otis Walker has long cherished an ambition to go on the stage. The ambitions of the Old Home Town folks to rival the adjoining city of Hootstown in presenting a home talent show forms the basis of the plot, and incidentally, creates havoc with the romance between Aunt Sarah Peabody and the energetic city constable. In all confidence—the audience get confounded by the ramifications of the plot—it may be stated that in the end Dud Keyes manages to cut Otis out and win Sarah for himself.

The songs are interpolated bodily from the stage successes of the season and include such hits as "Steamboat Sam," "No, No, Nora," "That Bran New Gal O' Mine," "When Nancy Brown Kissed Hiram Green Goodbye," "You Wanted Someone to Play With and I Wanted Someone to Love," "Last Night on the Back Porch," "I'll Take You Home Again, Pal O' Mine," "Bughouse Fables," "Dream Daddy," "That Waltz of Long Ago," and a number of others including an opening chorus which, for tunefulness, has rarely been equaled in this city either by professionals or amateurs.

This year the production is more than ordinary ability, costumed with lavish disregard for money that has marked the Zouave shows in the past.

Another group of the Sunshine Class of St. Paul's church met in the home of Mrs. J. E. Winters, 610 Hennepin avenue, last evening in one of the series of Jubilee Rally Socials. They elected Mrs. Winters chairman of the group; Mrs. Nettie Coakley, secretary, and Mrs. Josephine Smith, treasurer. The regular meeting night of this group will be the first Thursday evening of each month.

The more scattered members of the class were invited to the church parlor Tuesday afternoon, and enjoyed a pleasant social with music and refreshments. Mrs. Perso and Mrs. Wuehl, of the Nachusa, Orphanage, were also present, and Mrs. Martha Shipper of St. James delighted all with her reading of a beautiful original poem, "Mother Mine." This group preferred to enter the other social groups, and those of their number will be assigned to a meeting of group officers next week.

HOME COMES FIRST, BUT GIVE WOMEN TIME IN BUSINESS LIFE

By NEA Service

Niagara Falls, N. Y.—"Women are not men's equals—in business."

"But give the ladies a chance. They have permitted their capacity for development to blind them to the big things. Give them time and then see what happens."

Miss Ann E. Rae is speaking.

Speaking with authority, too. She is president of the United States League of Building and Loan Associations, an organization credited with having built 1,000,000 homes; president of the Niagara Falls Permanent Savings and Loan Association, an $80,000,000 corporation; former president of the New York State League of Savings and Loan Associations; director of the Niagara Falls Chamber of Commerce; director and former vice president of the Land Bank of the State of New York—and many other things and corporations.

With all this train of masculine titles, Miss Rae, of all things, womanly. Why, she even refuses to divulge her age.

Works with Men.

"I am just a plain business woman," she explains. "I have never worked for woman suffrage because I don't have time, but I think they have a right to vote. I like to work with men. They are fine at business. They haven't all the brains in the world, neither have women. My keynote has been co-operation."

Miss Rae is far from being a homebody. How could she be when she was working 14 hours a day at her desk and making addresses away from it? Despite this fact, she has done more for the great American home, perhaps, in this homey world.

In fact, homes are her hobby. She has completed financial arrangements that made possible the building of enough homes to make a fair-sized town.

"Homes are very near and dear to women," she explains. "You are in close touch with so many homes; do you find it true that we are developing a nation of delicate housewives living in 'two-by-four' apartments?" She was asked.

Miss Rae smiles her bonniest smile. "Of course not," she said. "Homes are changing, sure enough, but most ly for the better. The modern girl—

call them flappers if you will—wears their rouged cheeks, bobbed hair and abbreviated skirts—care just as much for home as did their hoop-skirted grandmothers. Women can't help loving a home; it's in their nature."

main objection, try cooking it uncovered. Parboil and carefully drain before dressing for the table. Cabbage really has a more delicate flavor than cauliflower or brussels sprouts if it's carefully cooked and served.

In cold weather a cut head of cabbage can be kept for several days wrapped in oiled paper and freshened in cold water before using.

With cabbage at 5 cents or more per pound none should be thrown away.

The story of this head of cabbage may help you with your next week's menu planning.

With the fish dinner of Friday serve a cabbage salad.

For Saturday luncheon use the leftover fish with cabbage in a salad. The menu might be something like this:

Fish and Cabbage Salad

Hot Cheese Sandwiches

Tea

Cookies

Serve cabbage au gratin with the Sunday roast.

Monday plan to have a vegetable soup and use cabbage, carrots, tomatoes and onions for the vegetables. The tomatoes and carrots seem to absorb the disagreeable pungency of the cabbage and the soup is really delicious.

CABBAGE SALAD

*One cup finely shredded cabbage, 1-2 cup diced celery, 1 apple, 2 table spoon nuts, 1 teaspoon salt, 1 table spoon sugar, 2 tablespoons vinegar,

4 tablespoons oil, paprika.

Add salt and sugar to cabbage and crush slightly with a wooden potato masher. Add celery and apple diced well with a silver fork. Add oil and continue stirring. Sprinkle with paprika and arrange on salad plates.

Sprinkle with nuts and serve.

If you happen to have a slice of canned pineapple add this, cut in small pieces. The tartness of the pineapple is quite an addition to the salad.

FISH AND CABBAGE SALAD

One cup cold flaked fish, 1 cup cabbage finely shredded, 1 green pepper, 1-2 teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, mayonnaise, 1 teaspoon minced parsley.

Remove seeds and white ribs from pepper and cut in shreds. Mix fish and cabbage and pour over lemon juice. Let stand half an hour. Add pepper, salt, parsley. Make moist with mayonnaise and serve on lettuce. Sprinkle with paprika before serving.

CABBAGE AU GRATIN

Two cups finely shredded cabbage,

2 tablespoons butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 1-2 cups milk, 1 tablespoon grated cheese, 1-4 cup coarse bread crumbs, salt and pepper.

Put cabbage into slightly salted boiling water and boil, uncovered for 15 minutes. Drain and rinse in cold water. Drain. Put in a well buttered baking dish and pour over the sauce made by melting butter, stirring in flour, slowly adding milk and cooking until thick and smooth. Add cheese and stir until melted. Cover with crumbs, dot with bits of butter and bake in a moderate oven until crumbs are brown.

Cabbage cooked this way will not fill the house with a disagreeable cabbage odor.

This one head of cabbage is used in four different ways, providing nourishing food at a low cost and without monotony.

SISTER Mary's KITCHEN

A HEAD OF CABBAGE

To the woman who is cooking for two or three a single head of cabbage often causes much perplexity.

A quarter of a head is often more than enough for one meal and after the cabbage is cut it must be used soon or wasted. Perhaps a good cabbage is taboo in the family and cabbage for four or five meals in succession seems too much of a good thing.

If the odor of the cabbage is the cause of the trouble, try cooking it uncovered. Parboil and carefully drain before dressing for the table. Cabbage

WORK OF THE "GREATEST MOTHER."

Maintenance of competent emergency machinery working with speed and concerted effort in disaster relief, which is a mandate in the charter granted to the American Red Cross by congress, found full justification in the Japanese earthquake disaster, according to detailed reports of that immense operation. Fresh in the minds of every one is the prompt action of the Greatest Mother in this terrible disaster.

When the president directed the Red Cross to take charge of the work of relief and mercy following the Japanese disaster it was possible without any hesitation to call into action 3000 chapters in all parts of the country. No time was wasted in setting up organizations through which to raise this necessary fund, but because of the permanent organizations in practically every county in United States the initial fund of $5,000,000 was raised in nine days. Within three weeks, more than $10,000,000 had been contributed through this official organization.

In the United States alone in the year ended July 1, 1923, the American Red Cross administered relief in 110 disasters at a cost of $400,000. The killed numbered 240, injured 991, homeless 12,691, buildings destroyed 2198. The total property loss was estimated at $26,710,000. These disasters ranged from Maine to California, from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico, and include serious disasters of all kinds.

In the Central division, of which this state is a part, Manager Walter Davidson was called upon during that time to give service and to administer relief in nine disasters. Chief among these disasters were the floods along the Mississippi river in Illinois, the devastating tornado in the St. Croix Falls district of Wisconsin, the Frontier Mine horror in Kemmerer, Wyo., where 100 men were entombed, and the recent floods in Council Bluffs, Iowa.

Thirteen disaster units are maintained in Central division states by the National Red Cross. Thus at a moment's notice supplies of every description may be rushed to the scene of disaster. It is no wonder that American citizens are eager to keep up their memberships in this organization. An opportunity will be given on Armistice day and continuing until Thanksgiving for every one to renew his membership or become one.

IMMIGRATION LET-UP.

With the rush of immigrant-carrying ships to reach Ellis Island at the beginning of the present month, there is a respite until the first of next July. The quotas of nearly all the countries have been filled in five months, leaving the next seven practically free.

It will be a welcome pause in the scramble, affording relief to the overworked officials at New York and other important ports of entry and giving the country another breathing spell—none the less pleasant because it is not needed so much as it was in the days, when a million aliens a year were pouring in.

This pause, too, should facilitate the task of congress, already too long delayed, of framing and putting into effect a new, adequate, permanent immigration law, so that the scandalous scramble, with all its attendant confusion and hardships, will not be resumed when the new fiscal year begins.

THE NEAR EAST TRANSFER.

A total estimated at 600,000 persons are involved in the exchange of people between Greece and Turkey. Whole families of Greeks in Turkey must leave their homes and go to Greece, while whole families of Turks must make the opposite transfer. The exchange began to proceed under American supervision November 1, and the Near East Relief has received hearty measures of thanks from both the Greek and the Turkish governments for its success in cutting preliminary red tape and insuring prompt, effective and frictionless commencement of this great movement of peoples. The exchange began on the 1st on the Greek island of Mitylene, and it is to continue for some seven months at the rate of about 3000 persons a day. The first shipload from the island of Mitylene arrived Thursday at the Turkish port of Avalik, near Smyrna. The number arriving at Avalik was one more than those counted as boarding the ship at Mitylene, because of the birth en route of a Turkish baby. By unanimous vote of the refugees, he was named Mustapha Kemal Second. The Near East Relief has truly a big work on its hands in this exchange alone, and without its supervision there would be more of hardship and less of humanity.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

"Goodbye," called Nancy and Nick happily. "We'll tell the Fairy Queen all about you."

Mister Cardinal Bird flew out of the magnolia tree and Misses Cuckoo Bird flew after him, her wings flapping like a fan and green in the sunlight.

Next came the Twins, not flying, but walking faster than any little boy or girl ever walked before, in their magic shoes.

They were on their way to an elder tree in Dixie Land where Misses Warbler was sitting on her nest.

Misses Warbler was as cross as a Tweekle Dum because somebody had laid an extra egg in her nest and expected her to hatch it. She was telling people that Misses Cuckoo had done it.

So now they were on their way to Misses Warbler's nest to find out all about it.

The minute Misses Warbler saw them she began to call out. "Here she comes! Here comes that lazy Misses Cuckoo, who won't build her own nest and who expects other people to bring up her children! Have you anything to say for yourself, Misses Cuckoo?"

"I've been trying to say something all along," said gentle Misses Cuckoo, "but everybody talks so much, I haven't had a chance. You're mistaken. I do build my own nest! I know people say that I don't, but I do. I never laid no egg in anybody else's nest in my life. I have a cousin over in Europe (who is a disgrace to the family) and she does it, but American cuckoos are very different. We only try to be useful and eat up as many bugs as we can. And we sing to make people happy."

"Then if you have a nest, why aren't you on it?" asked Misses Warbler in surprise.

"That's another thing that we cuckoos do in Dixie Land," explained Misses Cuckoo. "Two or three mother cuckoos often have a partnership nest and take turns keeping the eggs warm so the others can be out destroying bugs. It's my turn now and I must be going."

Just then a new voice called out. "Ha, ha, ha! I've been listening! That's my egg in your nest, Misses Warbler. I don't mind your knowing. And Misses Cuckoo Bird flew away before anybody could say a word."

"Oh, we're awfully sorry!" apologized Misses Warbler kindly to Misses Cuckoo.

"You're right we are, Misses Cuckoo!" declared Mister Cardinal Bird. "And for one I am going to stop gossiping. Why didn't you tell us before?"

"My friends knew it," said Misses Cuckoo softly. "And when strangers jump at conclusions without knowing what they are talking about, it is usually best to let them alone. Goodbye, everybody. I must go now."

"Goodbye," called Nancy and Nick happily. "We'll tell the Fairy Queen all about you."

Manchester—The growing of the American type of cotton in the Gezira area of the Sudan is developing rapidly and the output next year, it is estimated, will be double that of last, while in 15 years time the Sudan will be producing a million bales of cotton a year.

These statements were made recently in London by Major-General Sir L. O. F. C. Stack, Governor-General of the Sudan, who explained that the increased production would result from new development work, including the construction of a dam across the Nile which would bring an additional 30,000 acres of cotton under cultivation.

During the twentieth century, seven total solar eclipses will be visible in parts of the United States.

Why Not a Modern Car?

If, in the purchase of an automobile, you do not obtain all the great constructive developments that have marked the industry's progress, you deny yourself and your family the full measure of pleasure and safety that every modern car should provide. When you buy a car you should get—

First: A motor with such an abundance of power that it rises supreme over every problem of driving. In the 1924 Chandler you get the famous and flawlessly smooth

Pikes Peak Motor which is now generally accepted as having no peer in hill or traffic performance, regardless of price.

Second: You should get some type of transmission that makes it impossible for the least experienced driver to clash gears. In the 1924 Chandler you get the Traffic Transmission which is opening a new driving era for thousands who have awaited the time when the terrors of gear shifting could be eliminated. Anyone who has used the old-fashioned gear shift lever can use it and make any speed change on the first trial.

The car you buy should be a modern car. We believe that due investigation will convince you that any car, regardless of price, cannot be modern if it lacks any one of these important features.

Drive the 1924 Chandler! Handle the delicately balanced steering wheel yourself! Take an hour to convince yourself that it is the car you want!

CATTLE MEN WILL MEET SATURDAY TO FORM ASSOCIATION

Preservation of Clean Herds to Be Purpose of Gathering.

Woodstock, Ill., Nov. 7.—(By the Associated Press)—Ratification of a program outlined by "clean herd" cattle owners of McHenry county, will be proposed at a state wide meeting of cattle raisers to be held in Woodstock Saturday, Nov. 10. Organization of a permanent association to include the 30,000 cattle owners who have their herds under Federal supervision in Illinois, accredited veterinarians, business and professional men and women who are in favor of a state and federal livestock clean-up, is part of the program.

"The purpose of the organization," according to Frank Fowler, of Lake Villa, who will call the meeting to order as temporary president, "is to stop the 'rat holes,' big as railroad trains, on the state border in order that unhealthy cattle can be kept out of Illinois once the federal and state authorities have gotten them out of the herds."

"Rat holes," is Mr. Fowler's way of designating trainloads of unhealthy cattle coming into the state. The association will have "rat traps," Mr. Fowler intends, with reward money sufficient to "bring out evidence of evasion of the guarantee laws and regulations whenever they take place."

Adoption of an extensive plan for a state wide organization is contemplated at the Woodstock meeting. Group membership, it is proposed, will include business and commercial organizations, farm bureaus, and breed associations, and the name proposed for the organization will be the "Illinois Anti T. B. Vigilance association."

M. H. Peterson, of Libertyville, will act as secretary of the organization.

Proposed Principles

Principles of the organization as proposed by the McHenry cattle men, are as follows:

1. That this organization be a livestock organization rather than one confined to dairymen.
2. That it stand for the enforcement of the 60 day rest order.
3. That the organization offer substantial rewards for information leading to arrest and conviction of violators of the livestock sanitary regulations, rules, and laws, paying particular attention to state line cattle and post bills notifying the public of these rewards.
4. That an attorney be retained to follow up prosecutions of violations.
5. That quarantine officers be selected from this association.
6. That it stand for a premium on milk from tested cattle.
7. That all veterinarians and clean territory be listed.
8. That a list of accredited dealers, (professionally and financially) be listed.
9. That prompt payment be made for reactors. That certificates of indebtedness be issued to farmers who wish to buy more stock.
10. That care be exercised to prevent infection from other classes of livestock, and that local stockyards be disinfected before clean cattle are confined in them.
11. That farmers should be given information and assistance in cleaning up their premises and that an educational program be put on in the less important livestock counties.
12. That an approved veterinary surgeon do the testing for all sales.
13. That abortion be guarded against as carefully as T. B.
14. That approved tags that cannot be changed be used.
15. That the practice of V. S. in injecting Tuberculin and allowing farmers to read the test be condemned.
16. That a uniform sales contract be adopted.
17. That a monthly or semi-monthly paper be published.
18. That a member of the executive committee be appointed from each association.

British Booze Ship Taken Within Mile

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 6.—Capture of the British schooner, Louise F. with a $375,000 liquor cargo, after members of the crew had wrested the vessel from her captain, was effected within the three-mile limit, P. A. Hazeltine, divisional prohibition enforcement chief, who made the capture, declared today. Previous reports said the seizure was made "within the 12-mile limit."

The ship was but one mile off shore when taken over, Hazeltine said.

14TH MARCH TO ALTAR WINS WOMAN "PERFECT HUSBAND"

MRS. CORA WALKER LAFORGE

BY ROY J. GIBBONS
NEA Service Writer

East St. Louis, Ill.—All her life, Mrs. Cora Walker LaForge here has been seeking the perfect man.

Today, at 43, she believes she has found him—in her fourteenth husband.

Beat on exacting quest for the masculine ideal, and her conception of perfect marital bliss, she cut loose from 13 previous mates who failed to measure up to her standards and thus came into undisputed possession of the world's divorce championships.

Her uncanny ability to assemble and discard lesser halves, dates back to when she was scarce 14, and just plain Cora Walker of Alto Pass, Ill.

Handsome Farm Hand

At that age she went to the altar for the first time with Joseph Truett, a "handsome farm hand of her own home town."

Hubby No. 1 was good to look at, she says, but rather inclined to indolence. After three years of helping him with their income, she says, she divorced him.

Since then her checkered conjugal career has passed from church to divorce court in such kaleidoscopic manner that official observers have almost lost count of the occasions.

In rapid succession she changed her last name from Barnes to Butcher to Crow to Porter to Yates to Lilley to Whitney, etc.

Once again she is back to the altar, "L" with Henry La Forge, ennobled as the present incumbent in her fast-shifting train of husbands.

He is a personable, middle-aged business man, of quiet and defined bearing.

One would scarcely class him as an adonis, but the frequently married Mrs. La Forge assures us he represents the best of his sex, picked from a world full of eligible males, only after careful scrutiny and from experience based upon 13 previous unsuccessful ventures.

"I just know we're going to be happy," she says. "Henry has restored my faith in men. But I never quite lost it though. Because you can't judge them all by a few husbands I mean, of course."

All Had Three Chances

His name was John Whitney, whom she also divorced before he died.

As hubby No. 11, Albert Lilley was given three chances to make good, asserts Mrs. LaForge.

Their marriage was annulled once, and on two subsequent occasions she divorced him before making up her mind positively, she declares, that he wouldn't do.

"I thought that was trial enough," she says.

Sweet Music

Her marriage to LaForge was celebrated within a week from securing separation from Alexander Yates, hubby No. 13.

The ink scarcely had time to dry on the divorce decree when she murmured a blushing "yes" to his timorous "will you?"

Having been over the route so frequently, newspaper reporters knew by heart where the bride-to-be's home was, and there assembled to find her preparing her fourteenth trousseau.

The chime of wedding bells was still sweetest music to her ears, she told them.

And likewise she impressed upon them the fact that marriage by no means had lost its appeal to her.

"It's very possible to be 'happy though married,'" she says. "All you have to do is find the right man. I've tried to for years, and only now have just succeeded."

Feeds 'Em Well

Mrs. LaForge runs a comfortable boarding house here from which the fame of her cooking has spread far and wide.

She has two grown and married daughters by one of her early marriages, and they both join in saying she's the best mother in the world.

"Love is the big thing in matrimony," the frequent bride soliloquizes. "More cooking won't hold any man."

"After marriage a woman finds out what her husband really is."

Kindness First

"It's too bad she can't tell before."

In Mrs. LaForge's opinion, the most desirable quality in a husband is kindness. Next comes thrift and then fidelity.

Despite her years of trouble and the cooking, washing and scrubbing she has done for her long succession of mates, she still retains a youthful figure and face.

She is remarkably intelligent, and believes that the bad luck following on her trail for picking 13 lemons in the garden of love has been kissed goodbye forever because of her lucky fourteenth venture with Henry—"the ideal of her dreams."

All of which goes to prove that if at first you don't succeed, try, try again.

WHAT'S GOING ON IN THE WORLD CHIEF EVENTS OF THE WEEK BRIEFLY TOLD

Germany—Turkish Republic—Prohibition

STEWART
By Associated Press Leased Wire

CH. CHARLES P. STEWART
NEA Service Writer

Discouraged by French insistence on conditions which would make it a waste of time to discuss Germany's ability to pay war damages, the Washington government is reported about ready to give up the idea of taking part in such a talk.

David Lloyd George, who, more than anybody, was responsible for getting the United States interested in the subject again, admits it would be ridiculous to hold a conference if France is going to stick out for "a never-ending debt."

The French don't seem to care. Their press says Premier Poincaré consented to confer "only to show his good will."

German Rule Sought

At the world's capitals it is now accepted as a definite fact that France cares little for reparations in comparison with breaking Germany into a group of weak states, partly for the sake of French military security and partly with a view to grabbing the old German trade.

However, this does not suit the other nations. England has already told France she can not "with equanimity" see Germany broken up.

Civil War Ahead

Germany, rent by the conflicting activities of republicans, monarchists, separatists and reds, only holds together, seemingly miraculously, from day to day.

The Royalists now talk of putting Prince Rupprecht of Bavaria on the throne, as ruler of all Germany, with Munich as capital instead of Berlin, and Bavaria instead of Prussia as the most important state.

In opposition to this scheme, it is reported the Berlin republican government plans to bring the ex-kaiser's son, the crown prince, back from Holland to serve as its figure head.

New Republic Launched

The national assembly at Angora, has voted to make Turkey a republic, with Kemal Pasha as first president. His ambition is to consolidate the whole Mohammedan world.

Wets and Drys

Instead of settling matters by agreeing to let American dry officers go beyond the three-mile limit in their warfare against liquor smugglers, England has started a fresh row.

The drys wanted to extend the limit from three to 12 miles.

England says: "Extend it as far as you like." But on this condition—"English ships may bring liquor in to American ports under seal."

This means a new treaty which the Senate will be asked to ratify. It will be fought by the Anti-Saloon League, by sticklers for the Constitution and by American shipowners.

The league says such a system would aid, not hamper, smugglers. The constitutionalists say it would violate the Eighteenth Amendment. The shipowners say it would permit drinking on English liners both ways across the ocean, and then nobody would take American ships.

Veterans' Bureau Inquiry

The senatorial committee engaged in investigating the management of the Veterans' Bureau under Colonel C. L. Forbes, continues to unearth stories, not only of inefficiency, but, according to some witnesses, of wholesale graft.

The committee, however, is yet to hear Forbes' version.

HUPMOBILE DEALER WANTED

THE NEW SERIES HUPMOBILE IN SEDANS, COUPES, SPECIAL AND STANDARD TOURING CARS ARE NOW AVAILABLE FOR PROMPT DELIVERY.

A very liberal contract is offered to an established automobile dealer for Dixon and adjacent territory.

Increase in Hupmobile Production

The Hupmobile is "coming." It is making more money for the individual dealer today. It will make still more in 1924. The factory is planning greatly increased production for both years. We don't know—and we believe that you don't know—where such an opportunity is available today outside of the Hupmobile organization.

People in your territory now know what a wonderful car the Hupmobile is. Owners are spreading the facts; everyone—especially mechanics—are saying—"The Hupmobile is a mighty good car to own." And, naturally, this sells more Hupmobiles.

Hupmobile Easier to Sell

This all gets back to the fact that the dealer today can sell Hupmobiles with greater ease, and he can sell more of the m, than ever before.

And, we know, he can make more net profit on the Hupmobile; profit that compares most favorably with what can be made in any other line of business.

The Hupmobile franchise is eagerly sought for today by dealers everywhere.

We want men who understand that selling automobiles does not mean a large investment in pretentious salesrooms, but that it means sound business practice, keeping salesmen on the job, and good bank credit.

If you are such a dealer, you can, unquestionably, make good money in selling Hupmobiles. Hupmobile dealers have demonstrated this to be a fact; let us tell you the full story.

Write to us today. We believe that you will have cause to congratulate yourself, time after time in the future on having done so.

DECEASED JUDGE CLINTON F. IRWIN LEE CO. NATIVE

Elgin Jurist Born in Franklin Grove, Attended School There.

Circuit Judge Clinton F. Irwin of Elgin, whose death from pneumonia in his home in Elgin Sunday was reported in The Telegraph, and whose funeral was held in that city this afternoon, was a native of Lee county, having been born in Franklin Grove, Jan. 1, 1854. He had hosts of friends in this county, for in addition to having spent much of his early boyhood in the county, he had visited it many times, and has conducted a term of court here. He also addressed the Dixon Kiwanis Club some time ago.

Two weeks ago he was taken ill while on the bench at Geneva. He was removed to his Elgin home where he hovered between life and death for many days. Saturday it was thought the crisis had been passed and that he would pull through. A change came, however, for the worse which his feeble condition was unable to resist.

Judge Irwin was born in Franklin Grove, Lee county, on New Years day, 1854. There his boyhood was passed and there he attended the schools and in Maple Park. From that point he moved to Elgin and formed a law partnership with Robert E. Egan. In 1880 he was married to Julia Helen Egan, a sister of his partner. That was 43 years ago on the day of his death. All his life Judge Irwin while practicing enjoyed a liberal business. Later he became attorney for the C. M. & St. Paul railroad. Still later under the city administration of Charles Wheaton he became corporation counsel of Elgin.

McKinley Appointee

But the supreme moment of his life as he regarded it, was when President McKinley appointed him to the district bench of Oklahoma, then a territory which was then ex-officio a member of the supreme bench. All district judges of a territory met once a year in bloc as supreme court judges. He was given this appointment for splendid work done for McKinley in the 1896 campaign. From 1899 to 1903 he served there. When, however, Oklahoma became a state his office was abolished out of existence as all territorial offices were and he returned to Elgin to practice. For five years he was actively engaged in practice. Then when Judge Henry Willis died, he was nominated and elected circuit judge to succeed Judge Willis. Since that time he had held the office.

Judge Irwin was a rare lawyer. The young members of the profession loved him especially for his uniform kindness shown them always. But it was characteristic of Judge Irwin to be kind, to be generous. Never was human kindness shown to better advantage than to the little child he and Mrs. Irwin adopted. Little Elizabeth came to visit the judge the day or so following the death of her father and mother. The judge loved the child so much that he offered her his home. She was adopted and named after his mother, Elizabeth Anne Irwin.

On the bench Judge Irwin presided with great ability. No man could be fairer than he. His first desire was to get at the equities of a case and after that the suit who was right got what was coming to him. Nothing could swerve him and what was a truly splendid characteristic, if the fellow who had right on his side was represented by a boy lawyer unacquainted with the law as thoroughly as he should be, Judge Irwin saw to it that the youngster lost nothing. A truly kind, just and vital generous jurist he was.

He is survived by his widow, his son, Clinton F. Irwin, Jr., daughters, Mildred and Elizabeth. Another son, Firm, Plump, Fresh!

MANY are the eyes that are turned to gaze with keen admiration on the well developed, healthy girl no matter where she may be on the rapidly moving thoroughfare or gliding gracefully over the dance floor.

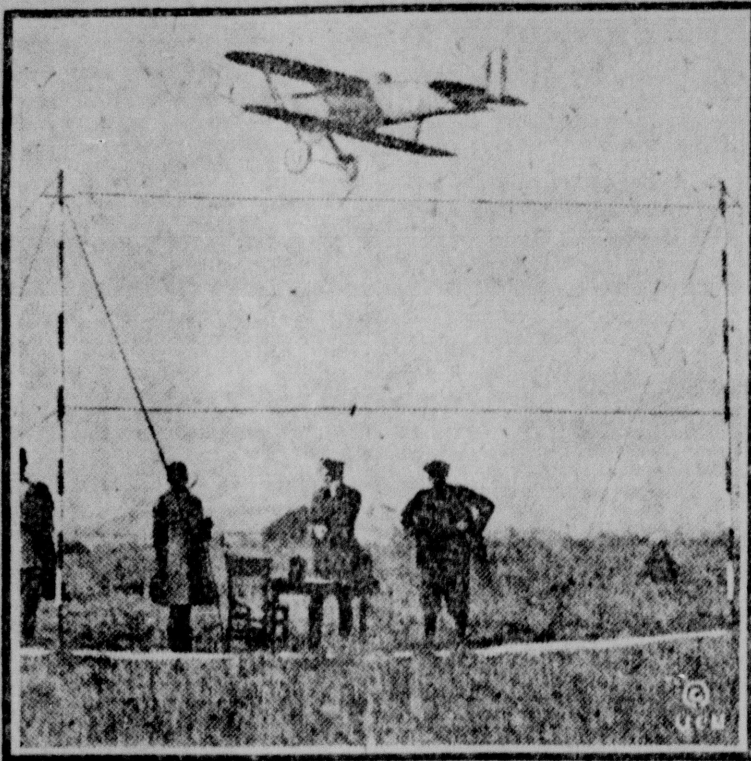

All eyes turn because we all appreciate the girl with the figure so firm and plump—the girl with radiantly red cheeks, cheeks that carry a touch of roses from nature's own garden—the girl with the sparkling eyes, keen and sharp—the girl with buoyancy and the swing of youth.

Not necessarily an out-of-doors girl. Just a girl with ever increasing blood cells. Just a girl filled with the vim and vigor of youth.

S. S. S., since 1826, has stood for increased blood cells. S. S. S. means restored strength—rekindled vitality—added energy. Take S. S. S. and watch the bloom of your return to your cheeks. Watch that flabby, ill nourished flesh fade away before flesh that is firm and plump. Red blood cells will do it and S. S. S. will build them. It contains only pure vegetable ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size bottle is more economical.

Man Shot to Death While Changing Tire

Chicago, Nov. 6.—As Michael Izzo, 45, pool room owner and former politician leader, bent over the wheel of his automobile to change a tire last night a man fired twice, killing him instantly and escaped. Police attributed the shooting to a liquor vendue feud, which has claimed three victims.

An examination of Izzo's car led police to believe someone had cut the tire with a knife. His daughter was the only witness of the killing.

A gallon jug of moonshine whiskey found by the police in Izzo's car and a loaded pistol in his pocket, strengthened the theory of the police that the slaying resulted from a feud between liquor dealers.

CLAIMS ALIBI FOR STEVENS ON NIGHT OF CRIME

Religious Worker Reported on Way to Establish It.

Chicago, Nov. 6.—Major M. E. Messlein, former head of Hope House, maintained by the Volunteers of America, was reported to have departed for Springfield today to tell state authorities that Walter Stevens, now in Joliet, serving a sentence for the shooting of an Aurora policeman, in 1918, was not guilty. He said he believed Governor Small would pardon Stevens.

Since Stevens, who had been at liberty on bonds since his second trial, was arrested recently in Indiana and removed from Crown Point, Ind., to Joliet, there have been persistent reports of attempts to get him free.

Stevens, accused of a long list of crimes, when captured declared he could prove an alibi. Major Messlein said that on the night of the Aurora shooting, October 28, he saw Stevens.

"I saw him the day before the Aurora affair, I saw him again on October 25, the day of the shooting, and both times he had his legs in plaster casts. He was unable to walk, let alone run," Major Messlein was reported to have said. "He was convicted on his reputation, not on the facts in the case. My sister and my wife both saw him the night I did. The night of the Aurora affair, he came to ask me to phone his family that he had nothing to do with the Heller-Rose $250,000 jewelry robbery."

THINKS IT "FRAME UP."

Aurora, Ill., Nov. 6.—State's Attorney C. W. Abbott of Kane county declared today that "there is no truth whatsoever in the reported story of Major Messlein of the Volunteers of America that he saw the convicted gunman in Chicago the night that Lester Wedemair, the Aurora policeman, was shot by a man he afterward identified as Stevens."

"This fellow appeared before the pardon board a year ago," Mr. Abbott said, in referring to Major Messlein, "and tried to have Stevens freed. I am satisfied that he is trying to frame an alibi for Stevens out of whole cloth. He never showed up at Stevens trials to offer his evidence. We would have liked to had an opportunity to question him in front of the man who looking at Stevens in the court room said, 'that is the man who shot me.' Mr. Abbott said that the application made a year ago for a pardon of Stevens had not been acted upon but that he felt sure "Gov. Small will not pardon the convicted gunman."

126,000 Miles of Cloth for Cement Sacks

To keep cement moving from the mills to the many building jobs always under way, cement manufacturers require an astonishing quantity of sacks.

This year the industry has considerably more than 225,000,000 sacks. These represent enough cotton cloth to make a skirt for every woman and girl in the United States—126,000 miles of 30-inch fabric. Even a moderate sized mill which ships say 1,000,000 barrels a year must have 2,000,000 or so sacks.

When a customer returns a sack he gets credit for it, if it is usable or repairable. The convenient returnable sack means that each plant has to have large departments where men and women sew, sort, clean and count sacks continuously. This work alone costs the industry nearly $1,250,000 a year.

And cement manufacturers keep increasing their sack inventories so that they can ship promptly. Last year they purchased a total of more than 100,000,000 new cotton sacks. For replacements alone over 50,000,000 were needed; for increased supplies over 30,000,000. In addition over 18,000,000 paper bags were used representing 7,000,000 pounds of paper.

This problem of containers causes a large and steadily growing investment by the portland cement industry.

Professor Denies He Intended Libel When He Wrote of Eckhardt

Lincoln, Neb., Nov. 6.—H. L. Keen, of counsel for Prof. H. C. Filley of the University of Nebraska, who is being sued in federal court for $75,000 by W. G. Eckhardt of DeKalb, Ill., for alleged libel in connection with an article published in a farm paper concerning Mr. Eckhardt's connection with the United States Grain Growers, denied any intended or real libel by his client.

Mr. Eckhardt testified of his career from the time he was a professor of agronomy in the University of Illinois to the formation of the United States Grain Growers and of his connection with that organization. Court will reconvene Wednesday.

Former Governor John Burke of North Dakota appeared yesterday as attorney for the plaintiff.

Mr. Burke, former treasurer of the United States said the article, which Prof. Filley is accused of writing, charged Mr. Eckhardt with extragant and unnecessary office expenditures.

As a matter of fact, he said, Mr. Eckhardt had urged economy.

Nervy Bandits Got Two Banks Tuesday at Spencer, Indiana

Spencer, Ind., Nov. 6.—A band of robbers variously estimated in number from 14 to 20, robbed two banks here today of approximately $15,000 and wounded two citizens. Traveling in four automobiles the robbers first cut all communication wires, then posted guards to prevent any interruption while they blew up the vaults. The bandits remained in the town more than an hour and in gaining access to the bank vaults used several explosive charges almost wrecking one building. The banks entered were the National Bank of Spencer and the Exchange State Bank.

POOR MEN'S SONS MORE SUCCESSFUL THAN THE WEALTHY

That's Opinion of Man
Who's Organized 21
Large Industries.

BY ALEXANDER HERMAN
NEA Service Staff Writer

New York—Poor men's sons have the edge on rich men's sons when it comes to succeeding in business.

That is the opinion of a man who has organized 21 large industries, who has been a friend of J. Pierpont Morgan, the de Rothschilds, most of the leading bankers of the world, and is, in a way, not only "father of trusts," but father of big business—Charles R. Flint, financier, sportsman and author of the "Memories of An Active Life" just published.

Edsel Will Have to Slog
"Sons of poor men are unencumbered by the handicaps that come with ease," says Flint. "They are not tempted to rest on the laurels of their fathers, for there usually aren't any."

"They just go ahead on their own. Their handicaps seem to sharpen them for their conflicts. Adversity seems to give them greater impetus. As a result most of the men who succeed are self-made."

Look at Edsel, the millionaire baker. When he started, his wife baked loaves of bread and he went out and peddled them. Now he sells a million dollars worth of bread a week.

Henry Ford's rise is even more marked. He has made the greatest individual success in the history of industry. His son Edsel will have to go some to even approximate the success of his father.

"Rockefeller and Schwab started with capital. Their success has been due to superior intelligence coupled with grit born of their early struggles."

"Charles A. Coffin, humorously referred to as 'The Lynn Shoemaker,' is now chairman of the Board of Directors of the General Electric Company, the outstanding figure in the electrical industry of the world."

"And the list is long, including the names of almost everyone who has made a real success."

Flint has had plenty of opportunity to observe many of these successes. In his work he has engaged in exploits the world over.

He furnished a navy for Brazil, delivered a cruiser to Japan in time of war, the only time a war vessel has ever been delivered to a belligerent, was consul for Chile, supplied munitions to Peru, served Russia in its war with Japan, hatched with royalty, was advisor to presidents, and persuaded some of the largest concerns in the country to adopt his ideas of industrial consolidation.

Withal he has kept young. "Most business men have the wrong idea," says Flint. "They slave in their youth and middle age with the view of accumulating wealth and retiring in their old age."

"By the time they decide to enjoy life, they are too old or too dyspeptic to be able to do it."

"Mix pleasure with business all the time. I don't mean that one should interfere with the other, but that they should supplement each other."

"Here I am past 73, still young enough to get a kick out of work at the office, and a thrill from my sport in the outdoors."

"Each afternoon I quit work and go horseback riding. Each weekend I go shooting or fishing."

"As a consequence I keep in good vigor and never have to take vacations."

"I have learned the art of playing—and that's the real secret of happiness in business."

T. R. Envid Him
President Roosevelt envied Flint for learning this art. In a letter thanking him for a fish, Roosevelt said:

"To receive such a magnificent fish as well as four woodcock is enough to raise a very grave doubt as to whether it is really worth while being president!"

As Flint spoke, he continued packing a cartridge case.

"The best age a man is at, ages," he went on. "But for mature judgment the period between 65 and 75 is the soundest."

"For active executive work, 25 to 50 is the time."

"For creative work, the age of the fifties is the best, for real creation takes mental processes that come only after years of experience."

"But the whole span of life is too short for one to waste it merely on the accumulation of money."

Important Measuring

of Stars is Recorded

Washington, Nov. 6.—Using a radio-meter based on the same principle as the little toy of black and silver vanes found in the offician's window, Dr. C. G. Abbott of the Smithsonian Institution, has measured the heat of the stars to the hundred millionth of a degree.

The experiments which were carried on at Mount Wilson, California, with the aid of the great 100 inch reflector there, began in July, and the results are regarded by officials here as of the highest importance to scientists.

Nine stars were observed, Vega, Rigel, Sirius, Capella, Procyon, Aldebaran, Betelgeuse, Alpha, Herculis and Beta Pegasi.

The new study, astronomers believe, will give a level of heat in the different task of learning the physical nature of the stars.

His attorney is J. L. Spaulding of Princeton. REPUBLICANS GAIN IN NEW YORK ASSEMBLY

Hearst Defeated By Tammany Tiger in City Election.

By Associated Press Leased Wire
New York, Nov. 7.—The Tammany tiger purred today, not only because of the sweeping victory yesterday, but because it had downed William F. Hearst in his judicious contests in Manhattan and the Bronx.

Charles F. Murphy, Tammany chieftain, announced that beginning today he would bar Hearst newspapers from his home and expressed the hope that "our decent, clean thinking men and women" would do likewise.

Governor Smith, who made several attacks on the "editor-politician," also issued a statement expressing satisfaction over the defeat of the judiciary candidates supported by the Hearst newspapers.

The republican representation in the New York assembly was increased by six members. The 1924 assembly will be composed of 87 republicans and 63 democrats.

A proposed constitutional amendment for the ten justices of the supreme court in Manhattan and the Bronx defeated the candidates on the republican and republican-independent ticket, supported by Hearst, by an average plurality of more than 130,000.

A proposed constitutional amendment to legalize a soldiers' bonus of $45,000,000 was favored by a big margin.

The republicans made a gain of one seat in the four congressional elections.

Former Representative B. L. Fairchild, republican, was elected in the 24th district.

In the 32nd district, Thaddeus C. Sweet, republican, was elected.

A. S. Prall and J. J. O'Connor, democrats, were elected in the eleventh and 16th districts, respectively.

America's Favorite Songs

Characteristic of America's impromptu part singing is "My Bonnie." No matter what may have been its origin, the harmonic style as well as the contour of the melody identify it with a type of "close harmony" singing which is essentially American.

Simple and Sad
The simplicity of "My Bonnie" makes it deserve a place among the songs that people of all ages love to sing. The tinge of sadness inherent in the line, "My Bonnie lies over the ocean," has caused some to change "lies" to "is" for the sake of a more cheery mood. However, the text probably is at its best when in the original form, for then it expresses a deep, emotional longing.

Some of the revelers in our pre-Volstead days evidently decided to take the curse of too much sadness off the song for they playfully affixed the phrase "dead drunk" to this somber line.
This song is another that belongs in the class of college songs that Dad used to sing.

MY BONNIE

My Bonnie lies over the ocean,
My Bonnie lies over the sea,
My Bonnie lies over the ocean,
Oh, bring back my Bonnie to me.

O blow, ye winds, over the ocean,
And blow, ye winds, over the sea,
O blow, ye winds, over the ocean,
And bring back my Bonnie to me.

Last night as I lay on my pillow,
Last night as I lay on my bed,
Last night as I lay on my pillow,
I dream'd that my Bonnie was dead.

The winds have blown over the ocean,
The winds have blown over the sea,
The winds have blown over the ocean,
And bro't back my Bonnie to me.

Washington — Congestion of automobile traffic in the downtown section of the larger cities has become a barrier to trade, merchants are finding shoppers who drive their own cars either hesitate to brave the perils of the downtown jam or are unable to find parking space for their vehicles. So they are turning more and more to the small shops and outlying stores for their purchases.

Fighting this situation, one large department store here has established a novel transportation service for its patrons.

In the "metropolitan area" of downtown Washington there is a police regulation preventing parking for more than 30 minutes. And what woman can "shop" in 30 minutes? So this store operates a big, roomy, automobile bus which makes the rounds of the outer limits of this restricted parking area. Would-be shoppers simply park their cars in the un-congested, non-restricted streets and ride the store's bus which makes the rounds of the outer limits of this restricted parking area. If you have in your town an organization known as the "Alfalfa Club" do not be misled into the belief that it is a body of farmers interested in the culture of that prolific forage plant, alfalfa.

"The Alfalfa Clubs" says Harry V. Haynes, president of the Investment Bankers' Association, "are so-called because of the established botanical fact that the alfalfa plant will go farther for drink than any other known growth."

On his first introduction at one of these organizations, Haynes says he experienced a frost so severe almost as to result in chilblains.

He has been mistaken for Prohibition Commissioner Haynes.

Secretary Mellon of the treasury got the full strength of the spotlight the other night at the banquet of a visiting bankers' organization.

Mellon is, personally, the most timid, shy and retiring man ever known in politics. He was watching the proceedings quietly from a box at one side of the big room, doubtless wishing himself at home in his own study, where a beehaired, dejected old young woman dances into his enclosure, smiled, extended inviting arms and sang: "We Love You, Andy."

Yes, they got the spotlight. But even his revealing rays didn't disclose a trace of pleasure on the face of the distinguished secretary.

NEW WINTER WHEAT RESISTANT TO HUNT AND SMUT ANNOUNCED

Washington — Development of a new variety of winter wheat which is resistant to hunt or smut is announced by the Department of Agriculture. It has been named "Ridit" because it is expected to rid the wheat fields of smut. The variety was developed by Dr. F. G. Gaines of the Washington agricultural experiment station at Pullman, Wash., in cooperation with the Department of Agriculture. It was bred through crossing Turkey and Florence varieties, the latter a smut-resistant spring wheat from Australia. Ridit has been found better adapted for the more humid regions than for semi-arid regions. A few hundred farmers in the eastern Washington planted Ridit this fall to give it a more complete trial than it has had in experiments.

"THE FOOL"

BY CHANNING POLLOCK

MAINTAINED BY J. W. SAWYER

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Clare Jewett, in love with the Reverend Goodkind, married Jerry Goodkind for his money. Daniel is dismissed from the fashionable Church of the Nativity in New York because of his radical sermons. Goodkind is sent to the coal mines by Goodkind senior and wires that a big price is settled.

A delegation of strikers comes north to interview the president of the directors. Daniel gives the magistrates 24 hours in which to sign an agreement which Goodkind had made tentatively with the miners. Daniel establishes "Overcoat Hall," a refuge for the unemployed and maintains apartments with baths for poor people.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"What are you reading?" he asked. "Something about 'Better Babies'."

"Are you going into the baby business?" the man asked, smiling. "No I was a hansom driver. Hacks—man and boy—40 years. Then taxi came in—and I went out."

"What'd you do then?" the visitor was inquisitive.

"Took to drink," said Grubby blandly.

"Yeh, then drink went out," observed Mack.

"What's your job?" It was Grubby's turn to question.

"Well, I was in the movies," Mack replied. "That is, I was going to be but the fellow that was going to put up the money, his mother didn't die after all. Before that, I sold bricks—books, too. And life insurance. Never had any luck. Who wrote that, 'Luck is a work'?"

"Mr. Gilchrist."

"Well, if it isn't, I've worked at 80 things and look at me. I figure the world owes me a living, and here I am waiting for a bite of grub and an overcoat. Is it true this guy'll give you an overcoat?"

"He will if he's got one. You just come and help yourself, and talk things over. Coffee and sandwiches every night—and supper and sermons on Wednesdays."

"Preachin'," said Mack, rising. "I'll come back tomorrow."

Grubby was reasuring him when Mary Margaret entered. She was a mere wisp, gliding on crutches, 15, pathetically pretty. She found cups and saucers on a shelf and busied herself with them.

"Don't he try to reform you?" queried Mack of Grubby skeptically. He hadn't noticed the girl.

"Naw," said Grubby. "The way he talks you'd think you as good as him. He says he's going to start one up in the taxi business."

"What's the catch? There must be some graft in it somewhere."

"If you ask me, I think the poor gent's got a few nuts in his nose-bag. Grubby described a circle over his head with his hand. "A little bit batty. That's what I say."

"And that's what you got no right to say, Grubby," Mary Margaret reproached the two with a look. "He's been good to you, ain't he?"

"That's why we think he's nutty," said Grubby. "What's he do it for?"

"Cause he loves you," said the girl, simply.

"What for?" asked Grubby unconprehendingly.

"God knows," mocked Mary Margaret. She hobbled to the table and began to set it. "It's after 7 now," she sighed, and the meeting half an hour away and he ain't had a bite to eat since morning." She paused. "He went to see a man who killed himself," Mack laughed. She looked at him curiously. "I mean—tried to. It was in the papers and he read it and says: 'I want to talk to that man.'"

She was still talking at Mack and he was still looking at her. "Graft," she said wistfully. "Why he didn't even have rent money yesterday and he was despoiled. He ain't had money to get himself a pair of shoes, and nobody helps him, or comes near him, but you bums that roast him behind his back."

The door opened and George F. Goodkind looked in rather curiously. "I didn't expect him. I just said he was crazy," Grubby dismissed the subject, then looked at the intruder. "Mr. Gilchrist?" Goodkind asked, stepping in.

"He'll be here any minute," answered Mary Margaret. "Won't you come in?"

Goodkind walked to the table. Grubby buried himself in his magazine and Mack walked toward the platform. Goodkind sat down, but with an air that indicated he didn't want to.

"Take a magazine," the girl said. "I got to make the coffee." She turned to Grubby. "You can come and carry it up in about 15 minutes," she said. She looked toward the shelf in time to see Mack flinging a loaf of sugar. "Graft," she muttered. "You ought to know." And she hobbled off, singing.

"Think she'll tell him?" Mack queried of Grubby.

"Naw," wheezed Grubby. "Any way, he don't care. He says we're

CHAPTER XVI
Goodkind Threatens

GILCHRIST surveyed the thief for a moment in silence. There wasn't even reproach in his eyes. His calm, his look of kindness, totally disarmed the man. He dropped the coat in surrender, waiting for denunciation, brutality, or he knew not what? Gilchrist made no move toward him.

"I thought you'd gone," Daniel said at last.

The thief had fled utterly—but the man was still there.

"No—I—I wanted—" he faltered. "You wanted my coat," said Gilchrist calmly.

Mack smiled at the simple explanation. He was relieved and somehow he felt very warm.

"Yes—that's—that's what I wanted to ask you," he said.

"I'm so glad you said so," said Gilchrist without a trace of irony. Mack looked up, surprised. "Because," went on Daniel, "if you hadn't, and I hadn't understood, you might have been tempted to take it without asking—and then you'd have been so sorry and ashamed." Mack wanted to lower his head, but he couldn't. The other's eyes held him. "A man couldn't come into another man's house, and be welcomed, and then take the other man's coat, without losing his self-respect—could he?" Mack only stared. "And of course, if we're going to pull ourselves together and get out of a hole, we must keep our self-respect."

"I wouldn't steal," started Mack apologetically.

"You couldn't," said Daniel complacently. He stooped and picked it up. "It's your coat. You asked for it, and I gave it to you. When you've worn it into a good job—come back and help me give another to someone who needs it as you do." He held up the coat for Mack to don.

"I will," said the man, pushing an arm through a sleeve, still bewildered beyond words.

"Of course you will," said Gilchrist, snatching him on the back. "Good night."

Mack hesitated. Gilchrist had turned back to Goodkind. Mack looked at him as though he had been convinced of his madness. Then shrugging his shoulders, he strode out.

The slam of the door touched a spark to the silent Goodkind.

"Well, I'll be damned," he exploded. Gilchrist laughed. "He won't come back," Goodkind continued half-angry. "Not one in ten would come back."

"All right," said Daniel genially. "That coat cost $20. If one in ten does come back, we've made a man for $200. Isn't it worth the price?"

"Maybe," said Goodkind, without conviction. "If a man's got the price. Have you?"

ITCHING ECZEMA DRIED RIGHT UP BY THIS SULPHUR

Any breaking out of the skin, even fiery, itching eczema, can be quickly overcome by applying a little Mentho-Sulphur, says a noted skin specialist. Because of its germ destroying properties, this sulphur preparation instantly brings ease from skin irritation, soothes and heals the eczema right up and leaves the skin clear and smooth.

It seldom fails to relieve the torment and disfigurement. Sufferers from skin trouble should get a little jar of Rowles' Mentho-Sulphur from any good druggist and use it like a cold cream.

Rub Rheumatic Pain, Soreness, Stiffness

What's Rheumatism? Pain only! Stop druging! Not one case in fifty requires internal treatment. Rub soothing, penetrating "St. Jacobs Oil" directly upon the "tender spot" and relief comes instantly. "St. Jacobs Oil" is a harmless rheumatism and sciatica liniment, which never disappoints and cannot burn the skin.

Linger up! Quit complaining! Get a small trial bottle from your druggist, and in just a moment you'll be free from rheumatic and sciatic pain, soreness, stiffness and swelling. Don't suffer! Relief awaits you. Old, honest "St. Jacobs Oil" has relieved millions of rheumatism sufferers in the last half century, and is just as good for sciatica, neuralgia, lumbago, backache, sprains and swellings.

PUT CREAM IN NOSE AND STOP CATARRH

Tells How To Open Clogged Nostrils and End Head-Colds.

You feel fine in a few moments. Your cold in head or catarrh will be gone. Your clogged nostrils will open. The air passages of your head will clear and you can breathe freely. No more dullness, headache, no sneezing, snuffling, mucous discharges or dryness; no struggling for breath at night.

Tell your druggist you want a small bottle of Ely's Cream Balm. Apply a little of this fragrant, antiseptic cream in your nostrils, let it penetrate through every air passage of the head; soothe and heal the swollen, inflamed mucous membrane, and relief comes instantly.

It is just what every cold and catarrh sufferer needs. Don't stay stuffed-up and miserable.

Know Thyself

"I just wanted to speak to you a minute."

"All right, after the meeting," said Gilchrist.

"I wanted to ask you—" put in Mack, still smiling.

"After the meeting," said Gilchrist with emphasis. He turned to Goodkind. "Won't you sit down?"

Mack scowled at Daniel's back.

"Thank!" he muttered scornfully and slouched toward the door. He paused as he reached it and looked enviously at Gilchrist's overcoat hanging on the rack. He looked back, rat-like. Then, stealthily, he reached for it, caught the arm of it and pulled it toward him.

Daniel and Goodkind were concerned with each other, not Mack.

"I'm glad you dropped in tonight," Daniel said. "Because I've been intending to call on you. But there's so much to do here—"

A clatter interrupted him. The coat had come loose from the hook, but with it had come the shaky umbrella and it crashed to the floor with considerable racket.

Daniel turned to look into the sheepish eyes of a thief.

There was neither anger nor vengeance in his face—there was a smile.

CORRECT POSTURE

Correct posture, in sitting, rising, standing, walking, stooping or lying, is of great importance to health.

When your spine is bent and the body is "slumped" or in a stooping position, both the chest and the abdominal cavity are narrowed and restricted. The action of the vital organs, in these two cavities, is interfered with. If kept up more or less all day, the loss of blood circulation will result in harm that can hardly be measured.

In climbing stairs hold the trunk erect. Use your feet and legs to lift you upstairs and not have your body bending over and away from side to side. The same thing is true about posture in sitting or during sleep. An erect back posture, during study or office work, will conserve your nerve force to a marked extent. Sleep with your trunk straight and legs extended. A bent trunk or spine during six or seven hours of sleep will cause a decided loss in nerve force and interfere with proper circulation. It will cause uneasy and restless sleep and the waking hours may mean a severe headache or loss of appetite for a nourishing breakfast.

One of the most common forms of lack of proper posture is the bent or drooping shoulders, both in youth and adults. In children, this may be added by having the weight of the clothing properly adjusted.

In adults, as a result of bad posture, the lower back muscles become strained. The effort to relieve this strain on the sacrospinous ligaments, causes bent back and drooping shoulders. The strain on these same joints, through improper posture, causes backache in many cases. The strain is not alone common to the back, but is also felt in the legs. Many cases of so-called sciatica and rheumatism may be traced to improper posture.

TO REVIVE RURAL INDUSTRIES

London—(By the Associated Press)—The village blacksmith, the saddler, the wheelwright and many other old English industries have fallen on evil days through changed conditions of life as a result of improved machinery and science.

In order to revive and develop these industries, a Rural Industries Intelligence Bureau has been formed and has recommended, among other things, the installation of modern machinery.

BUSINESS, PUBLIC EACH HAVE DUTIES TOWARD THE OTHER

Standard Oil Co. Executive Deprecates Too Much Govt.

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 6.—Colonel Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of directors of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) told the Mid-Day Luncheon Club today that "American industry and American business must conduct their affairs as to prove themselves worthy of public confidence or else they cannot live."

He declared that once industry and business lose public confidence and support, the enthusiasm of the American people will carry them along to the condemnation of the whole industrial structure.

When the American people, however, understand and get the proper appreciation of the vital relationship between industrial prosperity and general national prosperity, the country will be secure, he added.

He explained that the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) had many competitors and five times its refining capacity. The idea of monopoly is abhorrent to the minds of American people and will not be tolerated by them, he said.

While realizing responsibility toward the public, big business recognizes that the public has a responsibility to meet, he said, turning to interference of government, with business.

Too Much Government In the last decade we have seen too great a growth of paternalism in government, with the establishment of a state or federal bureau for each thing or that thing. Our citizens should remember that not only does government supervision of everything and everybody stifle individual initiative, but that every increase of governmental interference, necessarily brings with it an increase in taxes and the building up of a bureaucracy.

"I do not mean to advocate the entirely unrestricted operation of business, either big or little. I welcome government supervision of industry insofar as it is necessary to prevent unfair practices, but I deprecate that class of interference that works harassment of business without serving any good purpose. Farmers and other shippers in the United States today are paying the bill for interference with the railroads."

The success that has attended his company, "comes to it not by reason of monopoly, domination or unfair advantage, but solely from the high character of the employees who handle its affairs and their devotion to the high ideals of service to the public," he said.

He told of participation of the company's workers in the settlement of problems that concern their wages, working conditions and welfare, and said that "our experience with industrial relations, through employees' representation, has convinced me of the inherent fairness, good faith and square dealing of the American working man."

Eight of the ten members of the board of directors accompanied Colonel Stewart to Springfield, and were introduced by him during his address at the club, as follows: President, William M. Burton; Vice President, Allen Jackson; Vice President, E. G. Seibert; Vice President, John D. Clark; R. H. McElroy, director of traffic; E. J. Bullock, director of purchases; W. J. Thompson, general manager and Geo. M. Cook, director of public relations.

SOAKS RIGHT IN AND LIMBERS UP STIFF JOINTS

Pharmacists call it "Joint-Ease" because it's for Swollen, Sore, Painful, Creaky Joints Only.

It took a good many years to get together a combination of pain subduing and swelling reducing agents declared to be the one remedy that almost instantly penetrates through skin and flesh and starts right in to make swollen, inflamed, creaky, pain racked joints as good as new.

They call this new and wonderful preparation "Joint-Ease" because the medical man who turned the trick, worked for years to perfect some low-priced remedy that would really benefit the millions of people who have one or more joints that need helpful attention.

So "Joint-Ease" is prepared only for people who have a swollen, painful, creaky, distorted or stiff joint, whether it be in knee, elbow, shoulder, ankle, neck or finger and whether it is caused by rheumatism of something else.

Of course, it can't help but quickly put an end to such superficial ailments as lumbago, neuralgia, neuritis, aching muscles, stitch in the side, crick in the neck or sore feet because of its penetrating action, but that it is really recomended for is joint ailments of any nature whatever.

Ask for a tube of "Joint-Ease." You can use it several times in one evening for quick results, because it goes right through the skin with the aid of a few seconds rubbing. It surely is a swift penetrator and when it gets under the skin, it starts right in to clean up all joint trouble.

Public Drug & Book Co., and all druggists dispenses it daily for about 60 cents a tube, as do first-class druggists everywhere.—Adv.

Preliminary Fight for Prohibition is Started in England

London.—Almost everyone in England feels that some day in the future this country will be the scene of a big fight over the prohibition question. Both sides are already busy belaboring from soap boxes and lecture platforms, and spreading printed propaganda here and there.

To the side of the wets has just come Professor Ernest H. Starling, University College, London, with a book on "The Action of Alcohol on Man."

"The work of the community," he contends, "is carried out almost entirely by men with whom the moderate use of alcohol is habitual."

"We have only to look at the leaders in every walk of life. In each group of men a small handful who are total abstainers, but a census would probably give over 90 percent who habitually partake of small doses of alcohol. Health is in most people a necessary condition of success, and most of the members of the leading groups of society enumerated are distinguished not only by their good general health, but also by the fact that they live to a ripe old age."

Dry dinners are an awful bore to everyone, the Professor seems to think, and the merriment is obviously forced. But an ordinary feast at which alcoholic drinks form a part is ever distinguished by a natural flow of spirits and good fellowship."

"A man may go to such a dinner full of the cares and work of the day, with little or no interest in those he has to meet, whose occupations may be very diverse from his own, nervous of making any remarks to his neighbors for fear of making himself ridiculous or saying something in which they are not interested. After the first glass of champagne we notice the conversation, instead of being spasmodic and forced, becomes general and free; the self-consciousness and preoccupation of each man with his own affairs becomes lessened."

LETTER FROM JOHN ALDEN PRESCOTT TO SYDNEY CARTON.

Syd, old man, you certainly are in for it now. I don't know by what hocus-fokus Leslie has come to the conclusion that John Alden Prescott Jr. is your child. But the fact remains she thinks you are that baby's father.

Can you beat it? If what you think is true, and what I am beginning to believe more and more each day that the baby is mine and little Leslie's, all I have to say is "greater love than this hath no man," that he take upon himself the parentage of his friend's child.

Honestly, Syd, I don't know what to do. I can't help this thing in any way. I tried to dissuade Leslie from it and she immediately closed her lips, but I could see by the expression in her eyes that she still held to her theory. What was it, old man, that you said that first night here that would give her that impression? She certainly got it from something you said yourself and the worst part of it all is I think she would rather almost anybody would be the father of that baby than you. Isn't that just like a woman?

She hasn't told me a word about that thousand dollars that you pinned inside the baby's coat and although I think this is very strange I can't dare ask her about it. Lord, Syd! I am in the devil of a fix. If I didn't love the little imp so much I think I should hate him. He keeps me all the time trying to skirt around things. The most innocent subjects of conversation become human documents which point toward you as a gay Lothario who has deceived some poor girl when, if the truth were known, you are innocent. As far as the deceiving is concerned, even if the kid belongs to me, little Leslie was never deceived. She is quite as much to blame for his advent into the world as am I and I think she would be the first to acknowledge that fact.

Have you heard from her lately? She is advertised at one of the moving picture houses next week in

Build Strength to throw off the cold take SCOTT'S EMULSION

"Trumping His Heart." The town is quite "het up" over it. Everybody remembers her and not a few of the men are digging me in the ribs as they ask me if I am going to give a theater party.

Of course I know that there was always more or less talk about Paula and myself, but you are the only person in all the world outside of us who really knows the facts. I want to see that picture, Syd, and yet I'm afraid to go with anyone. I'm afraid to go alone for fear someone will see me slinking in or out, and I am afraid to stay away.

As I said before, I'm in a devil of a fix. (Copyright, 1923, NEA Service, Inc.)

With the 14,000,000 cars licensed in the United States and over 3,000,000 million cars and trucks being manufactured each year, do you realize what it means to the CITY where the BEMENT POSITIVE DRIVE DIFFERENTIAL IS MADE? Even if only FIVE per-cent of the cars are equipped with it.

Men prominent in the automotive industry, say that in three years EIGHTY per-cent of the cars driven will be equipped with THIS DEVICE. Figure it out how many MEN will be needed to manufacture the DIFFERENTIAL to supply the demand.
